Quite Unusual
A commission in lunacy had called a woman before them as a witness. And now, said the commission's counsel to her, what is your ground for claiming that the accused is insane?

The woman gulped, wiped her eyes and answered: Well, gentlemen, he took me to the theatre twice in one week. Each time we went in a taxicab; we had supper each time after the performance, and each time he bought me chocolates and flowers. He didn't go out to see a man between the acts either.

But, madam, said a commissioner, surely these actions do not prove insanity on the accused's part. But you forget, sir, said the lady, with a sad smile—you forget that the accused is my husband.

A Cleveland lawyer tells how, during a trial, one of the jurors suddenly rose from his seat and fled from the courtroom. He was, however, arrested in his flight, before he had left the building, and brought back.

I should like to know what you mean by such an action as this, demanded the judge, in a lenient tone, however, as he knew the man, an elderly German, to be a simple, straightforward person.

Vell, your honor, I will explain, said the juror. Van Mr. Jones finished with his talking my mind was clear all through, but ven Mr. Smith begins his talking I becomes all confused again already, and I says to myself, I better leave at once, and stay away until he is done, because your honor, to tell the truth, I didn't like der vay der argument was going.

A Pill That is Priced.—There have been many pills put upon the market and pressed upon public attention, but none has endured so long or met with so much favor as Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Widespread use of them has attested their great value, and they need no further advertisement than this. Having firmly established themselves in public esteem they now rank without a peer in the list of standard vegetable preparations.

Just on One Leg
It was the usual custom at Seaweed Farm for Mrs. Giles to wind up all the clocks each Saturday evening. But one Saturday Mrs. Giles was on the sick list—nothing more serious than a slightly sprained ankle—and she found it impossible for her to move about the house. So Giles was bidden to undertake the performance of her duties.

Now, Giles was short and fat. The kitchen mantel shelf was high. In order therefore to reach the clock which stood upon it, Giles was forced to requisition the services of a chair.

Laboriously he mounted it, while Mrs. Giles watched the manoeuvre in fear and trembling.

John, John, she cried, do be careful. That chair, you know, is none too strong. I'm sure it won't bear your weight.

Giles turned round and surveyed his spouse calmly.

Ay, ay, my dear, he said, it's quite all right; I'm only standing on one leg.

He Was the Cabman

A local preacher once drove in a cab to the village church to preach. Upon reaching the church he was very concerned to find that the congregation only consisted of one man. Remembering, however, that a well-known minister had on one occasion preached to one man, and converted him, he decided to give him the benefit of his discourse.

At the close of a long sermon he shook hands with his congregation and asked him if the sermon was too long.

Oh, it makes no difference; to me, was the reply. I am your cabman.

He—Private Jones just stood me a gingerbeer.

She—And did you stand him one back?

He—No, of course not. A true British soldier never re-treats!

Very Unique Spot

Doubtless the most unique spot in Europe is the little village of Altenberg, on whose border three countries meet. It is ruled by no monarch, has no soldiers, no police, and no taxes. Its inhabitants speak a curious jargon of French and German combined, and spend their days in cultivating the land or working in the valuable calamine mine of which the village boasts.

A policeman, giving evidence at the Southwark Coroner's Court recently, said his name was Vitruvius Rainbow. The Coroner—Were you named after anyone? The Constable—No, sir.

A pen-nib is a little thing, yet there is more steel used in the manufacture of nibs than in all the sword and gun factories in the world. A ton of steel produces 1,500,000 pens.

Tanning Materials in United States
The figures of the United States forestry service show that there are some 22,000,000 worth of vegetable tanning material used every year in the United States. The chief source of tanning is hemlock bark, but the quantity used is steadily decreasing, owing to the depletion of the forests. The amount of bark utilized in the United States in 1906 was 930,000 tons, in 1907, 816,000 tons; in 1908, 810,000 tons; and in 1909, 698,000 tons.

There are in all, six sources of tanning: gall nuts, fruits of certain plants and leaves of some trees and shrubs, wood of such trees as chestnut and quercus, bark of many trees and shrubs, roots of certain plants. The decrease in the amount derived from these usual sources of vegetable tanning is being met by introducing new materials and chemical substitutes. There appears to be a limit, however, to which substitutes can be successfully carried, and the question of a future supply of vegetable tanning is becoming a matter for serious consideration.

Renewal of Brands

The Brands Act recently before the Legislature provides for the cancellation of brands automatically every four years, unless the owner applies for renewal, and any brand so cancelled may be renewed on application within three months after cancellation. The object of this provision is to eliminate the large number of obsolete brands now carried in the brands book of the province. Under the act all brands allotted before 1905 will expire next year, those allotted 1905 or will expire on December 31st, 1915; 1908-10 brands will expire at the end of 1916, and those allotted in the year 1911-13 expire at the end of 1917.

The act provides for the appointment of a recorder of brands, and of a brand commission, to consist of three stock owners. Persons removing stock a distance of twenty miles in the province or to points outside the province are required to provide themselves with a brand recorder's certificate, or bill of sale, giving a description of the stock to show that such stock are properly in their possession, and any person is given the right to inspect travelling stock and to compare the brands on the stock with the brand certificates or bills of sale. A penalty of $200 and costs is provided for offences under the act.

1913 Crop in Alberta

One hundred million dollars in round numbers, or more than $200 per capita of the total population of the province, is the estimated farm value of the 1913 crop in Alberta.
Statistics compiled from reports to banks and transportation companies in Edmonton show increases of from 12 to 23 per cent. in the grain crop as follows:

Wheat, 24,540,000 bushels; Oats, 44,345,000 bushels; barley, 11,310,000 bushels; flax, 650,000 bushels; rye, 410,000 bushels. Most of the wheat grades No. 1 hard. The grain is clear of rust and smut and commands good prices.

Other items of the crop of 1913 are:
Hay, 90,000 tons; potatoes, 8,150,000 bushels; turnips, 2,000,000 bushels, mangolds, 500,000 bushels; carrots, 340,000 bushels. Reports on sugar beets, corn and other farm crops are not complete, but show big increases over any previous year in Alberta.

Four million dollars is the estimated value of dairy products while the value of poultry and products is placed at $2,000,000. The trappers caught furs of an estimated value of $1,250,000, while the fisheries industry amounted to $125,000. Truck gardeners report crops valued at $250,000. The total value of the livestock in the province is placed at $110,000,000, a gain of 23 1/2 per cent. over 1912, when the increase was 21 per cent. over 1911.

Indications are the cultivated acreage in 1914 will be from 10 to 11 per cent. greater than this year. More than 8,000 homestead entries were filed the first nine months this year.

$7,500 Fire at Castor

Two livery barns, valued at $5,000 were totally destroyed by fire on the night of October 31st, at Castor, and 15 horses, worth about $2,500 were burned to death. The horses belonged to W. McCaig, who was the proprietor of the Commercial hotel. Four teams of horses were saved. The other livery stable was owned by O.
B. Olson, of the Windsor livery.

The fire started about half past seven o'clock in the evening, and it is thought to have originated in the hay loft through some unknown reason.
Some of the employees were downstairs in the office of the livery, but the fire gained considerable headway before they noticed that the building was ablaze. It was after two o'clock a.m. November 1st when the fire was extinguished. The two stables are located in the centre of the town and for a time it was thought that other buildings would also suffer serious loss.

Several small shacks were destroyed;
these were in the immediate vicinity of the burning stables.

When the fire was discovered the employees of the Commercial livery started to save what horses they could but only managed to get four teams out. Fifteen of the other horses were burned to death.

The boy's appetite is often the source

MAKING MOTION PICTURE FILMS

One Company Spends $50,000 a Year Just to Robe Its Various Productions

Every frequenter of the motion picture theatres must have been struck, at some time or another, by the luxuriousness of the stage setting of most of the society dramas—the magnificence of the decorations, the richness of the furnishing, and the costliness of the dresses worn by the performers.

Few, however, have any real conception of the huge cost of these things, or appreciate the pains taken by the big film producing companies to get the best of everything.

Take, for instance, the costume of the principal actresses. The capital of Europe are ransacked for the latest creations in millinery and modes. When Miss Miriam Nesbitt and Miss Mary Fuller were last over here with the Edison Company, they paid a visit to Paris for the purpose of purchasing a stock of such things for future Edison productions, and in two days' shopping they spent more than $15,000.

Miss Lottie Briscoe, the Lubin star actress, recently played in a film which necessitated no fewer than fourteen changes of costume, each costing on an average about $75, and she needs when on tour, twenty trunks for her wardrobe.

Miss Gene Gauntier wears one set of furs in the Kalem films that cost $4,000, and she has other sets almost equally as valuable. Miss Asta Neilson is credited with being the most expensively dressed actress in the pictures. Frequently her costumes in the society scenes in which she specializes will cost as much as $500 apiece.

It might be thought that as the actual dresses worn by the performers are not seen by the public, but only the photographic representations of them, that common material or imitation stuff would do as well as the real articles.

But, as a matter of fact, this is far from being the case. Indeed, the very reverse holds good. To get a really first-class photograph, first-class properties must be provided.

In the early days of the picture play business this was not properly realized, and a company that laid out $5,000 on a collection of properties, although expecting them to last for years, was considered extravagant.

Nowadays, on the other hand, it would be a very cheap affair that would start with less than $15,000 or $20,000 worth; while one of the best known of the really big film companies is reported to spend as much as $50,000 every year in dressing—or, as it is technically termed, "robing" its shows.

The Desire to Disagree

There are those who seem to be born with the instinct to disagree. I have in mind at this moment one such person. I have heard him express emphatically a certain opinion and then, perhaps a day or two later, I have heard him denounce the same opinion expressed in his presence by someone else.

Sometimes, of course, this kind of thing is done by those who love argument for the sake of the intellectual exercise. But in this instance it was due simply and solely to the love of disagreeing.

If we did not spend so much time in trying to disagree, if we did not torment ourselves with the ill feeling that accompanies the will to disagree, we should be surprised at the strange improvement in the people and in the world about us.

We should find that, through persistent self assertion, instead of gaining we lost.

We should also discover that through resisting the desire to disagree, through giving people as good a chance to express themselves as we long to give ourselves, we should exert a far greater influence than we do now, and we should be heard oftener and with more profit.—From "Intimations," by John D. Barry, Paul Elder & Company, Publishers.

Shortly after a new administration took hold of a well-known southern railroad a great number of claims were preferred against the company on account of horses and cattle being killed along the line in Kentucky. To make matters worse it appeared that every animal killed, however worthless it may have been before the accident invariably figured in the claims subsequently presented as being of the best blood in Kentucky.

One day in conversation with one of the road's attorneys, the president became very much excited in referring to the situation. Do you know, he exclaimed, bringing down his fist on the desk by way of emphasis, I have reached the conclusion that nothing in Kentucky so improves live stock as crossing it with a locomotive.

A new bean which grows prolifically with little or no water has been discovered and is being investigated by the Arizona department of agriculture.

My dear, says the kind-hearted husband, I do not wish to say anything about our extravagant way of keeping house, but do you know it is a fact that the average French family lives on what the average American family wastes?

But, my angel, comments the helpful wife, that would be impossible. In the first place, the cost of sending it to France would be too great, and besides it would spoil before it got there.

LEPROSY AND FISH

Noted Surgeon's Death Recalls His Theories of Disease

Sir Jonathan Hutchinson, the famous surgeon, who died at Haslemere, England, at the age of eighty-four, devoted much time to the study of the origin of leprosy. He formed the theory that the disease was due to the eating of diseased or imperfectly cured fish, and to confirm his view he set out at the age of seventy for a long tour in India and Robben Island, Cape Colony.

His writings did much to secure better conditions for leprosy sufferers.

In bygone times, he once wrote, I used to call leprosy "fish-eaters' gout"; but he latterly preferred the description: fish-eaters' tuberculosis.

Leprosy, he said again, advanced in inland districts of Europe with the advent of Christianity, and the observance of fish fasts, and it disappeared when Protestantism threw fasts into disuse.

This contention brought him into conflict with the heads of the Roman Catholic Church.

Sir Jonathan, who lived in Haslemere for fifty years, was the founder of the educational museum there, the superintendence of which he counted as one of his recreations.

BACK WAS LAME FOR TWO YEARS

Stomach Troubles and Weakness of Kidneys Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

There is an enormous amount of suffering from liver and kidney derangements and stomach troubles that could easily be avoided by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

If you could only realize the scores of everyday ills that arise from a sluggish condition of the kidneys, liver and bowels you would not be long in giving this medicine a trial.

Mrs. Edward Stewart, New Richmond West, Que., writes: "I want to tell you how thankful I am for using your Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for stomach troubles and backache caused by weak kidneys. I was unable to wash any clothes for over two years on account of my back being lame. I read the Almanac and began using these pills. Two boxes made a complete cure. I can do my own washing and any other work now and want to say to lady friends that they do not know how much I appreciate Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Little Polly coming in from her walk one morning informed her mother that she had seen a lion in the park. No amount of persuasion or reasoning could make her vary her statement one hairbreadth. That night, when she slipped down on her knees to say her prayers, her mother said: Polly, ask God to forgive you for that fib.

Polly hid her face for a moment. Then she looked straight into her mother's eyes, her own shining like stars, and said: I did ask him, mamma, dearest, and he said: Don't mention it, Miss Polly, that big yellow dog has often fooled me.

Long Standing Asthma. — Many have suffered so long from asthma and have tried so many so-called remedies they think that there is no real help for them. They should read the letters received by the manufacturers of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy from thousands of cases, once as desperate as their own. Even in long-neglected cases this famous preparation brings prompt help.

Eyeglasses and Royalty

According to an American paper, the King of Sweden is probably the only monarch ever known to wear eyeglasses and spectacles on State occasions. In point of fact, both eyeglasses and spectacles are very rare among Royalties of today. This certainly is true of our own Royal family, no member of which (unless we include the present Duke of Cumberland) has ever employed any aid to vision.

Hair-Cutting Causes Baldness

Several matters of interest to the more layman engaged the attention of the British Medical Conference at Brighton recently. Dr. Barendt, a skin specialist, for example, suggested too much hair cutting as a cause of baldness.

Why is it that there are so many bald men and so few bald women? he asked. I believe it is because men will not let their hair grow to a proper length. The average man wears his hair about an inch long, whereas it should be at least thirteen or fourteen inches.

Dr. Barendt afterward explained that he considered nature was affronted by frequent cutting of the hair. If it is not allowed to grow to the length I have mentioned it becomes dry and loses its strength, much in the same way that the muscles of the body become flabby and weak if they are not exercised.

Dr. David Walsh, a Harley street skin specialist, told the meeting that he considered the abnormal loss of hair on the head, as well as many skin diseases, was largely associated with defective circulation of the blood. Loss of hair might often be taken as a sign of heart trouble. In support of this he found that out of thirty-six bald persons he had examined twenty-four were suffering from valvular disease of the heart. Dr. Eddowes, however, mentioned the case of an extremely bald man who was one of the most powerful gymnasts he knew.

Speaking before another section at the conference, Dr. H. F. Winslow declared that we are quite wrong in our methods of taking food. He would not promise any short cut to the millennium but he suggested that mankind would enjoy much better health if they would only recognize the fact that it is wrong to drink at meal times. All drinks should be taken between meals. He was not talking about alcohol; in fact, he entirely dissociated his present contention from any discussion of temperance. What he wanted people to do was to eat without any slipping at all.

Simple and Sure.—Dr. Thomas' Eucletic Oil is so simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a liniment the only direction is to rub, and when used as a dressing to apply. The directions are so plain and unmistakable that they are readily understood by young or old.

Henry James, the American novelist, lives at Rye, one of the Cinque Ports, but recently he left Rye and took a house in the country near the estate of a millionaire jam manufacturer, retired. This man, having married an earl's daughter, was ashamed of the trade whereby he had piled up his fortune.

The jam manufacturer one day wrote Mr. James an impudent letter vowing that it was outrageous the way the James' servants were trespassing on his grounds. Mr. James wrote back:

Dear Sir:—I am very sorry to hear that my servants have been poaching on your preserves.

P.S.—You'll excuse my mentioning your preserves, won't you?

The Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill, of New York, told the following story the other night in illustration of a point he wished to make:

I am reminded, he said, of the Irishman whose alarm clock stopped running. He shook it, but it would not run. He waited but it did not improve, and then one day he took the back out of it, looked in, and saw a dead cockroach. Shure enough, said he, I've discovered the difficulty. The engineer is dead!

Love of Canada

There was the smell of rain and of quickening earth in the air, and a few duck flew over, making no sound. Tempest stood still to watch them go. Then he looked out across the land which was so dear to him with the old light shining in his eyes.

Presently he spoke with a half laugh and a half break of love in the words: To love you isn't enough, he said. God grant we're ready to suffer and work for you—Canada.

The telephone bell rang in the consulting room of a doctor who was an enthusiastic motorist. In his absence the assistant answered it, and said the doctor was out.

Will you tell him, the voice asked, that Mr. Thompson has a gymkhana coming on, and wants to know if he can do anything for it?

I will tell him the moment he comes in, the assistant answered; meanwhile put a bread poultice on it, and renew it every two hours.

A teacher in a tenement district hurried from the school to find the mother of a pupil who had been taken ill.

Can you show me where Mrs. Angelo Scandale lives? she inquired of a cherub transplanted from the sunny south to a dark, sunless alley.

Yes, teacher, I show you, and a willing sticky hand dragged her on with such speed as to make her stumble over an Italian dame seated on the threshold.

After the teacher's breathless flight toward the clouds the little hand stopped tugging.

There where Meas Scandale live, indicated the horizontal arm and finger, but she downstar sitting on the step, finished the smiling lips.

His straining hands tore the words from the depths of his soul and threw the secret in the air.

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Years, Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the two following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion."

— Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont.—"I heard your medicines highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and ovarian trouble.

"My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not bear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated.

"I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial."

— Mrs. STEPHEN J. MARTIN, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

Can you show me where Mrs. Angelo Scandale lives? she inquired of a cherub transplanted from the sunny south to a dark, sunless alley.

Yes, teacher, I show you, and a willing sticky hand dragged her on with such speed as to make her stumble over an Italian dame seated on the threshold.

CURE FOR LAZY MAN

Switzerland Has Admirable Way of Dealing With Negligent Parents

The Swiss have a practical, quick and successful method of treating un- worthy fathers of families who ill treat their wives and children or desert them.

A Swiss butcher, who is a widower and has a large family, appeared before the tribunal at Nyon, near Geneva, on charges of ill-treating his children and deserting them, and was found guilty. He was sentenced by the magistrate to two years' confinement in the "Colonie of Orbe" (Canton of Vaud), which is in reality a prison for the "work-shy" and where they are forced to work, the profits of their labor being employed to support their wives and families, and the money sent regularly to the commune of the prisoner.

If after two years, when the butcher will be liberated, he desires to re-start his home and work, he is at liberty to do so.

Care of Harness

It is worthy of note, apart from a matter of comfort, how much more work can be done by a horse with properly fitting harness that is kept in good condition, than with any clumsy collar that seems to have just been thrown on and fits where it touches. Just imagine the discomfort to a small man having to wear a large man's clothes and work in them all day, or a large man working in a small man's clothes. It makes a great difference whether harness is kept soft and pliable, hard or rough, whether it fits snugly or not. There are more horses permanently injured by badly fitting harness than most people are aware of. Harness should be kept in a dry place when it is finished with. Generally in the spring, when all the work seems to come on at once and all the horses available are required, some rollers, etc., are brought out that were put away perhaps the previous autumn; if these were well cleaned and oiled before being put away they will be found to be soft and pliable, but if not, and they are hard, rough and probably damp, it is nothing short of cruelty to put such like on any horse, let alone on a young one that is about to be hitched for the first time perhaps. The oily surface of the leather and the sweat from the animals causes the dust to adhere to it, and thus make it dry and uncomfortable. First wash all this off and then before really dry apply the oil and work it into the leather as much as possible. Neats foot oil answers this purpose well, but there are several excellent harness oils that are worth using, after which place the harness out of doors, and then when dry rub clean. When harness has been unavoidably made wet it should be partly dried and rubbed over, then oiled before it has the chance to get hard; by doing this it will be found to last much longer.—Harness and Saddlery.

Is your husband cross? An irritable, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all dealers.

Unique Pow-wow

Probably nowhere else in Canada is there a stronger co-operative spirit in forest fire protection than has been developed by the Chief Fire Ranger of the Dominion Government among the rangers, Indians, trappers and packers of the Northern Manitoba Fire District. The work among the Indians has been especially beneficial, for in the past they were notoriously careless, especially in leaving camp-fires burning. But, largely owing to the energy and initiative of the Chief Ranger, the attitude of the Indians has been changed from one of indifference to one of keen interest, so much so, that that official writes: "The conservation of the forests has become as red-hot a topic out here as real estate in the West."

Recently, when treaty money was being paid to the Indians at Cross Lake, a special council meeting of seventy-five to eighty Indians was called, at which an animated discussion of forest fire protection took place. The Chief Ranger writes:—"While the meeting was in progress, the Indian Agent and party came, but to the surprise of many the meeting held interest till, by a standing vote, all asserted their willingness to help in the protection of the forests from fire. The chief and councillors wished me to convey to the Director of Forestry at Ottawa this, their resolution."

Whenever possible such councils are attended by the Chief Ranger, and all Indians promising to co-operate with the Dominion rangers are presented with a metal badge of office. The most intelligent of the Indians are engaged as regular fire rangers by the Dominion Government and do very conscientious work. Although the patrol is difficult, being done wholly by canoe, and the weather is often inclement, the eighteen fire rangers in this district average about eighteen miles a day, including Sundays, throughout the summer.

During the whole season, no serious damage was done by fire although many incipient forest fires were extinguished, a fact that speaks well for the efficiency of the patrol and the value of the co-operative spirit inculcated in the Indians.
